To All Whom it May Concern

TAKE NOTICE that one James Allen, late of the county of Macon and State of Illinois, died in his home at Decatur, Ill., on the 2nd day of March, A. D. 1876, leaving no known widow, descendants or heirs, in the said State of Illinois; that on the 10th day of April, A. D. 1876, the said County Court and for said county, duly appointed and qualified as administrator of the estate of the said James Allen, deceased, a small estate which he had come to his knowledge, have been fully paid; that he did, on the 18th day of April, A. D. 1876, make and doth, as such administrator, from his appointment to the said 18th day of April, A. D. 1876, and that, as shown by his account, he has disbursed a sum of money in his hands for distribution, or otherwise, as said court may direct, amounting to the sum of forty-six dollars and six cents, or thereabouts, to the said estate. Notice is hereby given to all persons, heirs of said deceased, or otherwise having claims or demands against such estate, to meet and docket their claims with the clerk of the court, before the date of the execution of the judgment, before the court, within six months from the date of this notice, or that the same will be forever barred.

OUR ONLY HOPE.

The nation has been developed by the industry and economy of our fathers and mothers; work and economy out of doors, work and economy in doors, was their constant habit. No day or night was so stormy or cold as to stop work; there was some useful thing to do every sort of day. This patient, resolute work subdued the forests, opened mines, and placed the fact of our nation on granite foundations of industrial prosperity. Our present hard times results more from an unwillingness to take hold of hard, useful labor, than from anything else. Large numbers of our young men and women are ashamed to work. Many of them will play at base ball or croquet until they almost burst themselves, but hard, useful work they will not do.

The remedy for our hard times lies not in legislation, or in this or that political party, no matter what party is in power, hard times will be upon us until we go to work, both in doors and out of doors, on fair days and foul days. Thus did the pioneer fathers and mothers conquer, and so must we conquer.

So we exhort you all, you minnows, you complainers, you spongers on fathers and mothers; you sapsuckers and leeches of honest people, go to work, at the opening of this new century, and earn an honest living, and take your lazy bills out of honest people's flesh and blood.

JUDGE DAVID DAVIS was widely talked of in Democratic circles for president. Many fondly thought he would be their nominee. But it seems that, after he had read the Cincinnati platform and learned that Gov. Hayes, of Ohio, and the Hon. W. A. Wheeler, of New York, had been nominated for President and Vice-President, he expressed his entire satisfaction therewith, and stated in a private letter to a personal friend that he intended to vote for Hayes, and thought all liberal republicans should do so. It appears that he also wrote a letter to a leading Democrat, declining to be a candidate on the Democratic-Confederate ticket, and this accounts for the fact that he received no votes in the St. Louis convention. The fact is, that Judge Davis could not act with the Confederate party if he would try. He was born a Whig, and continued one until that party dissolved. When he and Lincoln, Yates, Lovejoy, Trumbull, Palmer, Judd, Peck, and other old anti-slavery men, organized the Republican party in Illinois, Judge Davis never strayed away further than "Liberal Republicanism," which was rather an advance than a rear guard, as the object was purification rather than the destruction of the Republican party.—Chicago Tribune.

It is reported from Washington that it has been fixed that Hon. "Bill" Morrison, as his admirers delight to term him, must retire from Congress and run for governor of this state, against Mr. Cullom. If Morrison should prove as much of a failure in running for governor as he has as chairman of the ways and means committee, Cullom will have a clean walk over the course.

A young man who started for the Black Hills, halted twenty miles this side of the objective point and commenced to dig, and the result was a quarter of a pound of lead in fifteen minutes. He dug it out of his log, where it had been deposited by a bold red man.

WHAT ON EARTH induces some folks to hoard away silver as if they would never get another cent of the grey metal? It is to be abundant; it's silly and weak to hoard it up. Ten million dollars of silver coin is soon to be issued. Now, just be sensible, and launch out your silver coin with the same readiness that you do your paper coin.

TURKE is a swindling society in New York City with one O'Donovan Ross at its head, engaged in collecting money from Irishmen in the United States for the purpose of flooding Ireland. These men are swindlers, and Irishmen would better keep their hard-earned money in their pockets than send a cent to these cheats.

The Post Office Bill—Resumption Act.

CHICAGO, July 6.—A dispatch has been received at Gen. Sheridan's headquarters this morning, which confirms yesterday's Associated Press dispatches of Custer's disastrous engagement with the Indians on Little Horn river.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—Gen. Custer being a native of Michigan, the congressional delegation from that state as well as his brother army officers and others, were deeply pained by the report of his death, and Hon. T. W. Ferry, president of the senate, who was a warm personal friend of Gen. Custer, visited the war department early and was informed that no particulars had been received.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—Regarding the reported killing of Gen. Custer, and the massacre of his forces, neither General Sherman nor Gen. Sheridan, both of whom are now in this city, have received any confirmatory information. Gen. Sherman simply says, "I don't believe, and I don't want to believe, if I can help it." Gen. Sheridan says he "would like very much to disbelieve, but his fears that it is true are stronger than his hopes that it is not." He said he last heard from the expedition from Gen. Terry, about the 20th or 21st of June. Terry was then at the mouth of the Rosebud, and was planning a campaign against the savages. Gen. Sheridan further said, "I do not like to believe the news is as bad as it is reported, and yet there is no reason why the dispatches should not come direct from Ellis, the nearest post to the scene of the disaster. The lines, I understand, were recently placed in good working order."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—A dispatch from Virginia City reports great excitement at the news of Custer's death. A meeting was called to organize a company of volunteers.

TOLEDO, July 6.—A special to the Blade from Monroe, Michigan, the home of Gen. Custer, says the startling news of the massacre of his party by Indians, created the most intense feeling of sorrow among all classes. Gen. Custer passed several years of his youth at school in Monroe, and his parents have resided there many years. His wife is a daughter of Hon. Daniel L. Bacon, a prominent citizen of that place, and is now at the post recently commanded by Gen. Custer, Fort Abraham Lincoln. The town is draped in mourning and a meeting of the common council and citizens, was held this evening to take measures for an appropriate tribute to the gallant dead.

DUNUQUE, Ia., July 6.—The Rockdale disaster of Tuesday night is the all-absorbing topic of conversation.—Nothing like it was ever known before in this vicinity. A hamlet was swept away in a night. The place contained twelve buildings, located on each side of the road, which was graded fifteen feet above and crossed a small creek, which furnished water enough to run a flouring mill the year round.

The residents numbered about fifty persons added to which were several farmers and their families who were returning from the day's celebration in this city, when a shower came up and they sought shelter in Rockdale. Tired and weary from the day's exertions, they soon fell asleep after retiring, and were drowned in their night clothes.

AUGUSTA, Me., July 6.—Mr. Blaine has now been home eight days. So far there has been no special change in his case. The nervous prostration is still a marked characteristic. He is not able to leave his room, and is almost entirely confined to his bed. His physician thinks it will be many weeks before he will resume active work. An European trip is strongly recommended as soon as his strength is sufficient.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal writes:

"There is no place in Northern New York State which is so attractive as the town of Malone. It is a perfect paradise. This forenoon your correspondent was the recipient of courtesies from several of the prominent citizens. Elm street, for over a mile, is a most delightful thoroughfare, and some of the most wealthy citizens have recently erected palatial residences upon this beautiful street.

The home of Mr. Wheeler is upon this street, and is an unassuming two story brick house, with an acre and a half of ground attached. The grounds are neatly laid out with choice walks. Flowers and vines of rare description adorn the front yard. It is a quiet homestead."

nephew were found here, lying in a circle of four yards, and here, one after another, Custer's brave comrades fell. Not a man escaped.

ST. LOUIS, July 6.—A telegram from Gen. Ruggles at St. Paul to Captain Green, commanding the cavalry at the arsenal, here, gives the following names of the officers killed: General Custer, Col. Custer, Col. Keough, Col. Yates, Col. Cook, Lieut. Smith, Lieut. McIntosh, Lieut. Calhoun, Lieutenant Hudson, Lieut. Kiely, Lieut. Carter, and Lieut. Sturgis. Lieut. Harrington is missing.

SALT LAKE, July 6.—The citizens here are much excited over the Custer massacre. Several parties have made offers to the secretary of war to raise a regiment of frontiersmen in 2 days for Indian service.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—By a section in the postage bill, relating to third class matter, all transient papers, magazines, books, and all printed matter, with the exception of circulars unsealed, will be restored to the former rate of one cent for every two ounces, while merchandise and unsealed circulars will remain at the present rate. The bill appropriates $10,000,000 for the transportation of mail $15,837,851. That embraces stage routes and steamship lines at $6,737,851, and railroad routes at $9,100,000, against estimates of the department of a little more than $17,500,000 a reduction upon the item of transportation of mail of $7,662,149. There is nothing in the bill which affects the fast mails, such being by special arrangement between the postmaster general and the railroads.

The committee on banking and currency met to-day, and Gibson asked that further action on the resolution for the repeal of the resumption act be postponed until to-morrow.

Mr. Wilke, who has heretofore voted against the resolution, asked that further action be postponed till Monday, which was agreed on. This action is regarded as favorable for the final passage of the resolution by the committee.

The house committee on privileges and elections adopted a report, to-day, in the case of Breskus vs. Darrall, of Louisiana, giving the seat to Darrall. In the case of Butts vs. Mackey, of South Carolina, the committee report "no election" which ousts Mackey, sitting member.

S. Guttrie will be appointed cashier of the treasury, in place of Gilligan, appointed assistant treasurer, and J. W. Whiffly will be appointed assistant cashier. These are promotions in regular order. Guttrie is now assistant cashier, and in charge of the redemption division.

DUBUQUE, June 6.—A herald reporter has just arrived from the Rockdale disaster. He reports that with the coming of daylight a large force of men renewed the search for the missing bodies.

Up to this time but one more has been found, that of a girl named Minnie Bauer. The finding of the body confirms fears of yesterday, that more were missing than reported. The number is now swelled to 48, of which only 87 have been found. Funeral services are being held on the banks of the stream for such of the dead as have surviving friends.
